Bogus Check Passers Get Many Small Sums From City

TEN STORES HERE ARE EASY PREY FOR BOGUS CHECK MAN

FORGER, WITH LOTS OF NERVE, GETS $200 DURING RUSH HOUR.

SIGNED BY CRAIG Checks Made Out by Machine Company, Not in Existence for Nearly Two Years.

Ten Janesville business houses cashed bogus checks Saturday night amounting to approximately $200. The payee has thus far made a clean getaway.

To the debit side of the "experience" account, these stores can charge up their losses and add their "information" account with the fact that J. A. Craig does not sign factory pay roll checks and that there is no longer any Janesville Machine Company.

All of the bogus checks purported to be from the Janesville Machine Company and bore the signature of J. A. Craig. They varied in amounts from $7.15 to $25.00 and were cashed by one George Hanson, alias Henry Warner. All were apparently passed by him without any aid.

Used Check Protector
Hanson's game was easy. He secured a number of First National and Bower City bank checks and filled them out, signing Mr. Craig's name. The next step was to make them look more genuine by using a check protecting machine to fill in the amounts. Then the check was stamped with a number, 922, and a stamp was set up to affix to the bottom of the check, this title, "Janesville Machine Co. So. Franklin and Center." Under Mr. Craig's name appeared another rubber stamp impression, "Press."

During Rush Hour
He chose the time between 5 and 6 o'clock Saturday to pass his checks. His game was to enter a meat market, grocery, drug store or other place where he could get a dollar's worth of goods, tendering the check in payment. In the late afternoon rush, the checks were not thoroughly inspected and the result was that Hanson met with success everywhere.

Police Have Description
Police were notified sometime later when the checks were cashed. They were bogus, but Hanson had evidently left town. Authorities in all surrounding cities were furnished with a complete description of him. He is about 25 years old, according to the merchants.

Most of the checks were made payable to and endorsed by George Hanson. The endorsement was on the wrong end of the check. One was endorsed by the name Henry Warner. The signature purporting to be Craig's was in identical handwriting as the rest of the checks.

Mary Garden Directs Opera

Mary Garden today and the famous star as she appeared in Thais a decade ago.

When Herbert Johnson resigned as executive director of the Chicago grand opera association the other day and Cino Marinuzzi turned in his portfolio of artistic manager, opera lovers wondered what would happen next. They were surprised when Mary Garden, famous soprano and bright star of the company, was elected to both offices to succeed them. Mrs. Garden believes she can handle the duties heretofore shouldered by two men and still fill her role as star. The company opens a six-week engagement in New York soon.

DELEGATION MAY BRIAND FORMS NEW MEET WITH DURANT FRENCH CABINET

Local Committee Stands Ready to Make Trip to Land Auto Plant.

Janesville stands ready to send a special delegation of local business men to New York to place before W. C. Durant, wizard of the automobile world, the peculiar advantages of this city as the location for his new plant. The delegation was organized Saturday by L. O. Holman, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, as a follow-up move to the bid made by Janesville Saturday to Mr. Durant, the man who as president of the General Motors at the time, was largely responsible for the placing of the Samson Tractor Company here about two years ago.

Shortly after noon a telegram was dispatched to Mr. Durant requesting permission for a committee of Janesville men to call upon him at his New York office. That committee would be composed of General Motors at the time, was largely responsible for the placing of the Samson Tractor Company here about two years ago.

Await an Answer
"An answer to our latest wire would let us know positively whether Mr. Durant is giving any consideration to our request that he locate his factory here," said Mr. Holman.

Before sending the second telegram, plans were under way for the committee to depart for the Melrose park and wait upon the motorist. It was then decided more advisable to ask for an appointment. Purpose of the delegation's proposed visit is to show that Janesville means business in asking that the plant be erected here. News that Mr. Durant purposes putting the factory in a middle-western city hastened action, it is said.

In addition to the bid made by the

Dublin Tied Up Tight By Military Raiders; Few Arrests Result

[By Associated Press.]
Dublin, Jan. 17.—The military raid begun here yesterday, during which an area a mile square in Dublin was cordoned by soldiers and police, was planned to last 48 hours and was still in progress today. Some workmen who established their identity were allowed to pass the cord, but houses once searched were closed with barred windows to prevent the raiding party from returning. The object of the raid, it was said, was the arrest of these men and the seizure of arms, but thus far only two arrests have been made and no arms have been discovered. The operation likely will be extended to other parts of the city. Concealed stores of arms and ammunition are officially reported to have been discovered in Glorworth castle in the martial law area of Cork.

ATTACK IN POLICE STATION REFUSED

Bandits Kill 2 Officials of Railroad

[By Associated Press.]
Toledo, O., Jan. 17.—Six bandits killed two railroad officials here at noon today after holding up an automobile and seizing $12,000 belonging to the New York Central railroad. Louis Schroeder and A. E. Long were killed in resisting the highwaymen. The bandits intercepted the automobile coming up-town from the Janesville depot with passengers fare receipts.

The six outlaws in an automobile edged the railroad automobile into the curb and poured a fusillade on the railroad officers. Schroeder and Long were drawing their pistols when shot down.

The bandits seized a satchel containing the money and sped away. A taxicab driver who gave pursuit.

Mrs. McCormick, Philanthropist Dies in Chicago

[By Associated Press.]
Chicago, Jan. 17.—Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick, wife of the chairman of the board of directors of the International Harvester company, died today after a brief illness.

Complications believed to have ensued from an operation several years ago for gall stones caused her removal to a hospital early in the year. Her condition had been favorable until Saturday.

Mrs. McCormick was married March 5, 1889. She was born in England, but was educated in the United States. One of the most notable of the many benefactors in which Mrs. McCormick was active was the establishment of the Elizabeth Taylor fund to improve conditions of child life in the United States. More than 1,000 communities are said to have benefited.

Mr. McCormick and two sons, Cyrus and Gordon, survive.

MATHESON TO HEAD STATE AFFAIRS

Rock County Assemblyman Will Not Be Chairman of Finance, It Is Announced.

Assemblyman A. E. Matheson will be chairman of the committee on state affairs, which the committee of the assembly are announced on Tuesday by Speaker Riley Young.

Announcement that Mr. Matheson had been selected as head of the state affairs committee, made on Saturday from Madison seems to have been premature. The head of that committee will be Assemblyman Oakes of St. Croix county, it was learned.

Announcements will be made tomorrow. E. G. Fife will have a good committee appointment also.

Speaker Young Busy
Speaker Young was busy Saturday and Sunday to arrange the committees. He told the Gazette over the telephone that he was unable to be at the banquet dinner on account of the big task in front of him in making up the committees.

Matheson Non-Committal
"Anything that I might say in reference to committee appointments would be premature," Matheson said when informed that he was slated for the chairmanship of the state affairs committee. "Of course I am perfectly willing to serve, but I am pleased to see that it is to be the place where the speaker of the assembly wants to put me. It is close to some matters of legislation in which I am deeply interested."

YOUNG NOT READY TO ANNOUNCE COMMITTEES
Madison, Jan. 17.—Appointment of standing committees of the Wisconsin assembly will not be announced tomorrow by Speaker Riley S. Young, according to Miles L. Hincman, a leader of the Young faction in the lower house.

When the assembly meets tomorrow afternoon the only business scheduled is adoption of a resolution of respect which memorializes Governor Green Lake, who died at his home Saturday after a long illness. The assembly is expected to adjourn immediately for the rest of the day as a further mark of respect.

Speaker Young has appointed a committee of 6 to attend the funeral, including Miles L. Hincman, C. E. Hanson, A. E. East, J. J. McDowell, Clark M. Perry and J. E. Johnson. They will be accompanied by T. G. Gretny, sergeant-at-arms; and C. E. Shaffer, chief clerk of the assembly.

CINCINNATI MAN SECRETED IN HOTEL

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 17.—Ed. B. Haffertson, Cincinnati, who has sequestered himself at a local hotel for four weeks, today announced he has offered a reward of $500 for the conviction of the leader of the gang which has been terrorizing the city.

He says the gang represents a gambling syndicate of Cincinnati. The syndicate, he says, believes he opposed them in the operation of places where bets are accepted on horse races.

LANDIS SPEEDS UP TRIAL OF LIQUOR CASES IN LA CROSSE

CHICAGO JUDGE OPENS COURT, MANY ACTIONS ACCUMULATED.

BARABOO MAN UP Brother of Farmer Killed by Dry Agent Is Given Hearing.

[By Associated Press.]
La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 17.—With 119 cases involving alleged violations of the prohibition law listed for trial, Judge J. M. Landis, Chicago, convened United States court here this morning. A double venire of jurors, 60 in all, reported for duty.

Judge Landis has made every preparation to speed up the trial of the cases which are accumulating faster than the courts can dispose of them. There has been no judge in this district since the death of Judge A. L. Sanson, of Madison, in November.

The vacancy will be filled until after Harding is inaugurated president.

Baraboo Farmer Up First.
Trial of the case against Nicholas Nedunovich, farmer, living near Baraboo, charged with having in his possession a large quantity of moonshine liquor and raisin mash, in the trial of those cases.

Each Lehr and Prohibition Agent charged with the story of the killing, which was prompted, they said, when Joseph charged Lehr with upraising axe for demolishing two jars containing liquor in the wagon.

Announcement was made that trial of the case of St. Francis, charged with transporting liquor in an automobile from Milwaukee to Hurley with Peter Verlich, will be on tomorrow.

When United States District Attorney A. C. Wolfe announced that marshals in Michigan had failed to find Frank Mass, a former prohibition agent, who is an important witness in the case pending here, Judge Landis directed him to wire the government officials at Grand Rapids, and get same action.

HUBBARD TO TALK TO TWILIGHT CLUB

Jail For Profiteer; No Class Legislation; Economy in Government

Wisconsin's Foremost Statesman Speaks to Brilliant Assemblage of Men and Women at Y. M. C. A. Dinner Saturday Night on the Responsibility of Republicans.

Top Liners in Lenroot Speech

"Coal-operators have been exacting profits as high as 300 per cent. This criminal profiteering must stop. If the constitutional government does not give the federal government sufficient power to stop it the constitution must be amended."

"If the republican party does not take hold of this question and give the people relief, then the lease of power it enjoys will be short indeed."

"If it is wrong for organized labor to boycott a manufacturer who does not employ union labor, it is wrong for a manufacturer to boycott a contractor who does employ union labor."

"The Non-partisan league paints rainbows that are never to be anything but rainbows. It makes promises that can never be kept. It is no farmer has a real friend."

"The best way to fight the Non-partisan league in Wisconsin and the nation, that it represents is at this session of the legislature to take up the problem of the farmer and to the fullest extent of power of the state to assist him in securing better marketing facilities."

"We cannot have class government in this country either by organized wealth or organized labor or organized farmers."

"If our legislature shall grapple with the problems we have with discrimination to help the people, if it shall be progressive but not radical, it will do more to kill radicalism and the Non-partisan league than all the denunciations that may be heaped upon it by a thousand orators."

SOLDIERS JAILED FOR LYNCHING

Eleven Members of Alabama National Guard Are Under Arrest.

[By Associated Press.]
Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 17.—Eleven members of Company M, Alabama National Guard, were in Jefferson county jail here today, charged with the lynching of William Baird, a miner at Jasper, last Thursday night. The men, five non-commissioned officers and six privates, were arrested last night after a search of a taxi driver, is said to have made a complete confession of the part he took and named the soldiers.

FARMERS FOUND MURDERED IN BED
Kaufman, Tex., Jan. 17.—Feeling was intense today over the murder of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Willard, both of whom were slain in their bed here. Officers said they had no clue as to the identity of the assassins. The bodies were found in bed, the heads crushed with blows from an iron rod which was found in the house.

MAYOR URGED TO ATTEND ROAD SHOW

Mayor T. E. Walsh today received an invitation to attend the National Good Roads Show in Chicago, February 9-12. He is asked to appoint in addition, at least three official delegates from Janesville, preferably the city engineer, street commissioner, and chairman of the council highway committee.

Good roads experts from all sections of the country will speak. The exhibit is considered particularly timely in the face of the government appropriating billions of dollars for federal aid highways.

The invitation is from Mayor William Hale Thompson, Chicago.

Author, Love Bandit, Pleads Not Guilty to Theft From Franzen

[By Associated Press.]
Madison, Jan. 17.—Pierre P. Author, who two weeks ago eloped with the wife of Philip Franzen, Madison, was arraigned in superior court here this morning on the charge of grand larceny and pleaded not guilty. Hearing was set for Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The charge of grand larceny was preferred by Franzen on account of an alleged theft by Author of $110, on the night he took Mrs. Franzen from her home.

The court room was crowded when Author was arraigned. He appeared non-committal toward everything that went on, and entered his plea of not guilty with an emphatic gesture. Neither Franzen or his wife were present at the opening of the case. Author was brought here Sunday following his arrest in Highland Park, Ill., and after he had waived extradition rights.

MRS. FRANZEN AWAITES CALL FROM MADISON
Milwaukee, Jan. 17.—Mrs. Franzen will remain at her post by telephone, in connection with Madison, she said today, for she has Author's promise to summon her immediately if he needs proof that the $110 was contributed by her husband as a "free will offering" to defray expenses, and was not taken by him at the point of a revolver.

TOKIO RESENTFUL OF ANY POLICY TO CHECK EXPANSION

AMERICAN NOTE ADVISES THAT SIBERIAN TROOPS BE REDUCED.

OPINION DIVIDED Peace Party Would Abandon Adventure Which Is Too Expensive.

[By Associated Press.]
Tokio, Jan. 17.—Government officials here did not make public the text of the American note protesting against the shooting of Naval Lieutenant H. L. Langdon by a Japanese sentry at Vladivostok. Publicists express the belief that Washington has not only asked reparation with guarantees removing a probability of similar incidents in future, but also has again pointed out to Japan the wisdom of reducing if not withdrawing her troops from the country where she possesses no sovereign rights, but the littoral of which is dominated by her military power.

Opinion Is Divided.
A division of opinion exists in government circles as to the Siberian problem. It is reported here. Leaders of the military party insist Japanese troops should remain in Siberia, while the peace party is seeking to abandon any adventure which it is claimed, is ruinously expensive and without hope of compensation.

The Hara cabinet appears to retain its strength and it is believed it will survive the impending session of the Japanese diet, at which relations between this country and America will be discussed.

Tokio Is Uneasy

The correspondent of the Associated Press, who has just returned to Tokio from a visit to cities of the Far East, found uneasiness regarding relations between Japan and America. In well informed circles these misgivings appeared based more upon what was described as "Japan's resentment to any American policy calculated to curb Japanese expansion in Asia," than upon the California question. The latter problem, while touching Japan's national prestige and the interests of the United States, is apparently not regarded with the same seriousness as the question of Japan's vital interests near Nippon.

Japan Feels U. S. Is Fair

Efforts of the American state department, through Ambassador Morioka, have profoundly impressed the Japanese with the fairness of the United States. For this reason the killing of Lieut. Langdon is generally regarded as a dispatch received by the navy department today from Admiral Gleaves at Manila. The sentry has been recommended for court martial, the dispatch added.

STATE IN ATTACK ON WATERPOWER BILL

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 17.—Objections challenging the jurisdiction of the federal power commission, were filed today by the state attorney general to applications made by 12 associations and corporations for leave to divert and utilize through the construction of dams, the waters of the Lawrence and Niagara rivers for power purposes.

The action represents the first attack on the Esch waterpower law which permits the federal commission to exact a rental for use of the water of boundary streams and gives the commission complete control over waterpower sites and use of water.

The state holds that the power of the federal government in respect to these waters is limited to action insuring navigability. It also claims that any financial benefits derived from the use of surplus waters should go to the state rather than to the federal government.

RICH WOMAN LEAVES DIAMONDS AT HOME, ESCORT GETS THEM

[By Associated Press.]
Chicago, Jan. 17.—Mrs. Katherine L. Gibbons, Cleveland, attended the theater Saturday night. Her escort, John Burke, warned her not to wear her diamond rings because of so many footpads, and she left them at the home of friends. When she returned, the rings were gone. Reporting robbery to police, she was escorted to the second act and did not return until nearly the close of the play. Today the diamonds, valued at $1,500, were found in Burke's possession when he was arrested.

HUGHES IS CERTAIN OF CABINET POST

Will be Secretary of State; to Lead Party Out of Discussion.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The practical certainty that Charles Evans Hughes will be secretary of state in the Harding cabinet has led some members of the senate in the last few days to take a retrospective glance at the views of the former associate justice and his views on legal or political questions, but his utterances on foreign policy which during the campaign had a passing value but which now have become the basis of American action after March 4.

"It should be remembered," wrote Mr. Hughes on one occasion, "that the great protest against war for a considerable period of years will be found not in any form of words that may now be adopted, however desirable these may be, but in the economic conditions which are an assurance that for a considerable time at least we shall not have a recurrence of world strife."

Danger Lies in Disorder
"Not in the absence of force employed to further imperial designs, but in the disorder due to a breakup and the removal of traditional restraints and the tendency to revolution within states. In making commitments it should be remembered that while it is highly important that at this time we should do everything that is practicable to create peace and to secure stable conditions we should be cautious in making promises which are to be redeemed in unknown contingencies."

Some of the main points in Mr. Hughes' criticism of the present movement of the league of nations are as follows:

(1) Omitting the guaranty in Article ten.
(2) Suitable limitation as to the field of the league's inquiries and action so as to leave no doubt that the internal concerns of states such as immigration and tariff laws are not embraced.

(3) Provision that no foreign power shall acquire by conquest, purchase or in any other way, any portion of the American continent or the islands adjacent thereto.
(4) Provision that the settlement of purely American questions between American nations and that European nations shall not intervene unless requested to do so by the American nations.

(5) Provision that no member of the league shall be constituted a mandatory without its consent and no European or Asiatic power shall be constituted a mandatory of any American people.
(6) Explicit provision that unanimous agreement or decision is required.

(7) Provision that any member of the league may withdraw at its pleasure on a specified notice.

Speaking particularly of Article ten Mr. Hughes said in regard to the guaranty in Article ten as "a trouble breeder and not a peace-maker." He declared that he believed it to be unnecessary and unwelcome and that "there is little ground to believe that it will prevent war, on the contrary it is likely to prove illusory and to create disappointment and a sense of injury and injustice on the part of those who are led to place confidence in it."

Here is the paragraph, however, which makes it possible for Mr. Hughes to approach the Harding campaign view of the league issue and his own early inclinations toward modification of the present covenant of the league:

"I think that it is a fallacy to suppose that helpful co-operation in the future will be assured by the attempted compulsion of an inflexible rule. Rather will such co-operation depend upon the fostering of firm friendships, springing from an appreciation of the community of ideas, interests and purposes, and such friendships are more likely to be promoted by freedom of conference than by the effort to create hard and fast engagements."

Leave Hughes Free
The foregoing sufficiently broad to permit Mr. Hughes to decide eventually without obligation or commitment can be obtained by so modifying the covenant as to leave Mr. Hughes free hand in everything yet permitting her to sit as a member of an organization which is already in operation; or it may permit Mr. Hughes to ask other nations to join a new association which has much less specific powers than the present league and one that is patterned after The Hague conference.

The selection of Mr. Hughes as secretary of state is due largely to the fact that his record is general enough and his utterances broad enough to give him free hand in taking advantage of such machinery for international cooperation as is already in existence or in the setting up of new processes fitted to the campaign pledges of American freedom of action in all international affairs.

Hughes Fosters Compromise
One thing is sure neither the Lodge reservations nor the irreconcilables can claim that Mr. Hughes made it impossible for him to accept their point of view and there are plenty of middle-of-the-road senators who think the Hughes mind will produce a compromise. They expect him to lead the party out of the wilderness of dissension and turn the thought and ability of the party to a solution of the acute business and economic problems of reconstruction.

Machine-James Gibbs, about 45, whose only identification was a membership card of the Chicago Seamen's union, was instantly killed when he was struck by a southbound train on the Chicago and Northwestern road. Gibbs had stolen a ride into Janesville on the northbound train, which had just pulled into the station. He leaped from this train, vaulted the fence separating the two tracks, and landed right in front of the oncoming train. The body was decapitated and badly mangled.

Five Hundred from Rock County to Attend Big State Marketing Convention at Madison

Rock county will have about 200 in attendance at the important marketing conference in Madison opening on Feb. 1 and lasting until Feb. 10. The drive to obtain a big delegation is now being made in this county, Jefferson and Walworth counties will also be well represented.

Opinion was expressed today by R. T. Glasco, county agent, to the effect that the Madison meeting would be one of the most important farm conferences ever held in Wisconsin.

All Groups Interested
Every group of farmers concerned with the readjustment of agriculture and allied industries will be represented. All matters pertaining to the production and proper marketing of crops will come before the conference.

Resolutions will be passed for legislation to aid the farmer, the appeals being planned to both state and national governments. Dr. Alonzo Taylor, one of the greatest food authorities in the United States will attend the meeting. He is associated with Herbert Hoover.

Bureau Meeting
Rock county men will probably be most interested in the program on Feb. 2. On this day the state farm bureau will meet in the morning, and J. H. Howard, president of the national farm bureau organization, will address the meeting in the afternoon. George Hull, Johnstown, is president of the state federation, being recently re-elected. The temporary officers were named to hold office until the Madison meeting.

Reduced fares will be given the farmers attending in event they obtain certificates when purchasing their tickets to Madison. On return and presentation of the tickets they will be given half fare.

Howard to Speak
J. H. Howard, president of the National Farm Bureau Federation; Dr. Alonzo Taylor, University of Pennsylvania; Gov. John R. Blaine; A. S. Lever, chairman of the Federal Farm Loan board; E. T. Meredith, secretary of agriculture; and Dean H. L. Russell of the college of agriculture are among the speakers announced for the "Get Together" market conference. employment means loss of buying power. Farmers forced to sell their products at abnormally low prices, inevitably contract their operations and a loss in production results.

Farm products and food and fibre prices, must be maintained at normal levels in equal justice to all classes of our people.

State Problem
"The burden of maintaining agricultural production in no small degree falls upon our own state. As a producer of canned goods and dairy products she ranks first. Within her borders are to be found many of the nation's chief industries. Her institutions are sound and her economic and social life progressive and healthy. Yet, our commonwealth, in these uncertain times, has need of the wisest counsel, the richest experience, and the sanest leadership that can be found within her borders. To the end that farmers, manufacturers, business men and all others engaged in the transportation and distribution of products, originating on our farms may be brought together for consideration of common problems is of vital interest to all."

National Movement
"Therefore, do I, John J. Blaine, governor of the state of Wisconsin, issue this call for a 'Get Together' Market Conference to be held at agricultural hall, Madison, beginning Feb. 1, 1921, and continuing for a period of 10 days.

In complete realization of the fact that the unsupported action of a single state can have but little influence upon the market problems of the country as a whole, national leaders of the great agricultural and allied industrial enterprises have been invited to participate in this conference.

"As a result of the active participation of these men, and that of the various enterprises within our own state, it is hoped that a two-fold result will be achieved: First—That out of this conference may come a statewide recognition of the essential of a sound and constructive agricultural policy for our own state.

"Second—That such policy may be sufficiently sound, broad and constructive to permit of adaptation to a wider field and in the end may point the way to a solution of some of the marketing problems of the nation.

"Pursuant of these purposes, I have this fourteenth day of January, 1921, hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state of Wisconsin to be affixed."

LENROOT ATTACKS WAR PROFITEERS

American citizen. And he should be sent to the farm and to the country if he was fitted for that work instead of congesting the cities. There must be a restriction of the immigration that crowded the cities and made them the harbor of the unemployed and the discontented. The future was always in need of competent help. He would, the senator said, ask that some method of distribution of the labor be made so that the immigrant citizen but be sent to the farm where he was so vitally needed.

A Critical Period.

We are passing through a critical period in the history of our nation. Prices are falling, and the cost of living is being reduced. If this resulted in a generally lower level of earnings, cutting out the profit and leaving the fact is that prices still have very little relation to each other. Coal is selling at a higher price today than steel. Any time during the war, steel prices went up while other prices were reduced somewhat, are still selling at an average of more than two hundred percent over pre-war prices. This is due to the most part to the fact that profiteering has not ceased by those who are able through monopoly or gentlemen's agreements, or understandings, to maintain high prices on certain commodities while the prices of other commodities are lowered.

Financial Profiteering.

We have had some revelations of financial profiteering in the investigation by the senate committee of the coal business. It has been conclusively shown that coal-operators have been exacting profits from the American people as high as three hundred percent. If we had a department of justice that would perform its duty, some of these men would be in the United States penitentiary today. This criminal profiteering must stop. If the constitution does not give the federal government sufficient power to stop it, the constitution power must be amended. If the republicans party does not take hold of this question and give the people relief, then the lease of power it now enjoys will be short indeed. The people should have the support of every honest man, whether he be laborer, farmer, manufacturer, business or professional man. The people will not submit to being robbed as they have been robbed, and if sure, level-headed men will not help to solve the problem, there will be critical times ahead of us, more dangerous than any we are going through now.

Serve All Alike.

Then there is another situation that should command our attention. The supreme court has recently held that a boycott by the Sherman anti-trust law, and is therefore unlawful. That is the law, for the supreme court has said it. But the Bethlehem Steel Company admits refusing to sell its structural steel in New York to any contractor who employs union labor. If it is wrong for organized labor to boycott a manufacturer who does not employ union labor, it is wrong for a manufacturer to boycott a contractor who does employ union labor. The farmer has suffered more proportionately in falling prices than any other class of people. This is due largely to inequality of bargaining power on his part. He has little or nothing to say about the prices he receives for his product. He must accept prices fixed by others or not at all. The farmer must organize economically; he must have better marketing facilities; he must through organization be placed in a position where he shall have some voice in the prices he receives for his product.

Republican Responsibility.

Now, what is the republican party going to do about these things? What are we as republicans and citizens going to do about them? Are we going to permit political profiteers to capitalize the wrongs committed by financial profiteers with no other purpose than the advance of their own political fortunes? Or shall we resolve that the full power of the government, national and state, while according to honest business and industry the fullest freedom for individual initiative, shall be exercised to assist in remedying existing wrongs. Upon the answer to this question depends the future of the republican party in the nation and in the state of Wisconsin.

Non-Partisan League.

The best way to fight the non-partisan league in Wisconsin and the radicalism that it represents is at this session of the legislature to take up the problem of the farmer, and to the fullest extent of the power of the state assist him in securing better marketing facilities; to encourage him to form cooperative associations and conduct them on business principles. The Non-Partisan League paints rainbows that are never to be anything but rainbows. It makes promises that can never be fulfilled. It is no farmer's real friend. Let us make every farmer a republican by making him see that the demagogue is his enemy, and that our party proposes to do for him everything that can be done consistent with the rights of other people. Special privilege he should not ask, and special privilege he should not receive to the injury of others. But it is one of the functions of government to protect the weak against the strong, and as in the nature of things farmers cannot become as highly organized as other lines of industry and commerce, they are entitled to have the law on their side. It shall be progressive but not radical, it will do more to kill radicalism and the Non-Partisan League than all the denunciations that may be heaped upon it by a thousand orators.

Class Government.

We cannot have, we must not have, class government in this country, either by organized wealth, organized labor, or organized farmers. This must be a government of and by the people, and we must fight special privilege injurious to the public in every form, no matter from what quarter the demand for it may come. If our legislature now in session shall grapple with the problems we have with determination to help the people, if it shall be progressive but not radical, it will do more to kill radicalism and the Non-Partisan League than all the denunciations that may be heaped upon it by a thousand orators. It is the rank and file of the republican party that constitutes the strength of the party. Let us show the people that we have special interests of any kind controls it, but that its leadership will always be responsive to its membership. Then we may look forward to greater victories than have yet been won.

In Congress.

What I have said about our state legislature is also true of our national congress. I hope, I sincerely hope, that there will be enough members in both houses who are forward-looking to shape progressive legislation that will do much to relieve present conditions. Economy in government expenditures; revision of our tax laws; instituting a just and equitable system of taxation; the exercise of the full power of congress to prevent profiteering and kindred evils; wise immigration laws, dealing with discrimination as well as admission of immigrants; provision for better credit facilities for our farmers; a reasonably prompt provision for better credit facilities of the war with Germany and adjustment of our international relations. These are some of the things that congress can do. It shall perform its duty, the power of both financial profiteers and political profiteers will be destroyed. The democratic will be unable to deceive the people, and we shall move on to a period of peace and prosperity such as the country has not seen before.

Organize in Rock.

This program is worthy of our best efforts. republicans of Rock county, you can help, you should help by organizing now to assist in forming a correct public opinion to help fight both reaction and radicalism, those who would turn the clock of progress back, and those who would smash the clock.

Begin now, take an interest in congress, in the legislature. Study political questions, help get the facts as to them before your neighbors, and in the campaign of 1922 we shall save the state of Wisconsin and shall make it truly progressive. We shall have a party without a boss, an organization without a dictator. We shall have indeed a government where the will of the people shall have the law of the land.

The senator was given an ovation at the close of his address. When he sat down Stephen Bolles arose and moved that in harmony with the suggestions made by the senator, the republicans of Rock county in united party, organize to carry out the principles suggested, and that the President of the Lenroot club and chairman of the banquet be authorized in the next few days to appoint a committee on organization for the purpose of submitting a platform and program to such a Republican Club of Rock county. The motion was seconded by Marshall P. Richardson and a number of others and carried with no dissenting voice.

Albin Peterson Speaks.

Chairman Albin Peterson, of the Republican state committee was introduced by Chairman Dougherty in a few remarks about the guiding of state chairman. The chief duty, according to Mr. Dougherty and as most people thought, was to augment money from the public and dodge the corrupt practices act. Mr. Peterson complimented Rock county on its brand of republicanism and made every body feel glad he lived in this section of the world.

Reception in the Afternoon.

Senator Lenroot arrived on the 3:20 Northwestern train from Madison accompanied by Chairman of the state republican committee, Albin Peterson and Fred Shusby, correspondent of the Milwaukee Sentinel. Later in the afternoon, Walter Drew, of Milwaukee, secretary of the Lenroot Citizens' club arrived and was present at the dinner. The senator

X-RAY SPECIALIST IN CHARGE OF WORK AT HOSPITAL HERE

Mercy hospital patients are being educated in the science of X-ray or Roentgenology which has taken its place recently in the medical world. The hospital maintains one of the finest and most modernly equipped X-ray departments in this state. Recently the department has been re-housed and re-equipped and put in charge of Dr. Arthur E. Willis, Chicago. Dr. Willis was formerly Roentgenologist at Cook County hospital. He also served under the late Dr. John D. Murphy, Chicago, and in other important institutions in that city.

Speaking of the local X-ray department, Dr. Willis said today, that with the present equipment which Mercy hospital has there is no branch of Roentgenology diagnosis or therapeutic investigation, which cannot be profited. In this department, the laboratory adjoining the X-ray department is used to make blood analyses and other diagnostic investigations. The X-ray machine is used whenever there is doubt as to the diagnosis of a case. After an X-ray examination the diagnosis reached by Dr. Willis is turned over to the patient's attending physician and proper treatment given.

Wives First, Husbands Next.

It was a case of "Mrs. and Mr." There were almost as many women as men at the banquet. They were as interested as the men and as Senator Lenroot said they would probably be better informed in reference to questions of government than the men.

Committees in charge of the banquet were: for the dinner, Oscar Nelson and Joseph Earle, Mrs. Frank Blodgett, tickets, J. K. Jensen and A. J. Gibbons; reception, Stephen Bolles, assisted by 100 women and men.

Low Gas Pressure.

There was a wait of half an hour for the dinner owing to the low gas pressure which made it impossible for the caterer, Mrs. Bowerman, to get the dinner cooked on the exact time set, 6:15.

The large X. M. C. A. hall was decorated with flags and festoons of smilax. The tables were made attractive with ferns and potted plants. Serving on the executive committee of the dinner with the committee of the Lenroot club and to whom much credit is due for the success of the dinner were Mrs. A. J. Harris, Mrs. J. M. Whitehead, Mrs. Frank Blodgett, Mrs. E. H. Hageman, and Mrs. David Holmes.

Rock County Club.

At an informal meeting of a number of republicans following the dinner Saturday night it was determined to at once plan an organization of the republicans of the county. President Dougherty of the Lenroot Club was called to Milwaukee this morning to hold a conference with Senator Lenroot and other leading republicans of the state committee on a platform for the club is working today and announcement of the plan of organization will be made public sometime this week.

SENATOR LENOOT IN JANESVILLE.
One has no trouble about understanding what Senator Lenroot means. He has no tricks of words nor can he be brought to the book about any double meaning. That is one reason why he is the foremost statesman and the largest figure in public life in Wisconsin. He is a power in the United States senate. Last week he succeeded in having the Muscle Shoals appropriation bill whereby the government was to have spent some $48,000,000 for the construction of a dam and other improvements in Alabama without any possible benefit except to the corporation, held up for amendment. Under the amendments offered by Senator Lenroot the benefit will come and the waste will be eliminated. He has made a fight with every appearance of success to reduce the war burden of the army.

It was a tribute of friendship to the senator that was paid to him Saturday night in Janesville when every seat possible in the dining hall of the city's largest assembly room, was filled to hear him. It was something else, too,—the beginning of the active participation of the women in public affairs, and no more keen listeners or more appreciative audience could have been collected than that which with its fifty per cent of women greeted the Wisconsin leader here.

Out of that speech the public can carry one paramount thought, that is the impossibility of legislation as a cure-all for economic and business ills. Multiplicity of law makes for confusion and not for cure. The establishment of a progressive program of legislation at Madison and Washington should be based on economy in expenditure and the steps immediately necessary to end war conditions and restore the country to a normal level of peace time activity. That is the biggest thing to get done and that it will be done was indicated in Senator Lenroot's address to the Rock county republicans.

MR. DURANT AND JANESVILLE.
Every citizen and every organized association of civic sort should be squarely behind the action of Manager Holman of the Chamber of Commerce in the effort to have William C. Durant locate here as the center of his new automobile industry. Mr. Durant has no better friends anywhere in the country than right here in Janesville. There is little known as to the plans of Mr. Durant in reference to Durant Motors, and he will tell no more until he has the details ready for the public. That he will make a car that will sell for less than $1,000 is the big item in the announcement already made. It is indicative of the size of the field which he will occupy. Less than two months after he went out of General Motors he is back in the field with the new project, and with every chance of success.

Janesville wants Mr. Durant here, and we will do everything possible to get him with his indefatigable spirit to locate as a part of the life of this city.

CUTTING DOWN THE ARMY.
Senator Lenroot succeeded in having an amendment to the army bill passed by the senate, stopping army enlistments which have reached 1,500 daily. He was also successful in the amendment to have the number of the regular army cut to 150,000 in keeping with the disarmament program of the world. This will make no difference with the reserve army of the states, but will reduce the burden of the people enormously. Senator Phenix, with a warning of impending trouble with Japan, was able to hold up the amendment for a day or until it was voted on by the whole senate. The Japanese situation is no worse than it has been and there is no reason for added alarm that all differences will not be adjusted amicably. But it will not be done by the United States lying down and rolling over, admitting the Japanese here as they please to come and not by overlooking the insults to America and the slaying of an American officer by the Japanese.

It is noted in this connection that former Senator James Ham Lewis, has lost the tridescant glow from his pink whiskers and that he is shrouded in deep gloom over the probability of war with Japan and the "United States will not have a friend in the world."

CHEERFUL NEWS.
Daily evidence comes to the fact that business is picking up and the Gazette is pleased to chronicle these conditions which show that manufacture and industry are on the upward trend. Announcement in Detroit that the Ford plant would open in February, will reduce the number of unemployed in the automobile city by many thousands at that time. Here in Janesville manufacturers report added orders and factories are stimulated into further action. There is, too, a new impetus in the tobacco market, and the crop will begin to move with added rapidity, so that there will again be a large number of people employed in the warehouses very soon.

MR. MATHEWSON IN THE ASSEMBLY.
The fact that Assemblyman A. E. Mathewson will have a good committee appointment is a recommendation of the excellent judgment of the voters

The True Story of Yap
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—Who gets the island of Yap? The Bureau of Insular Affairs said the Navy department ought to know, and the Navy department felt sure that the State department would know, and maybe the State department does know, but it is saying anything. Yap was introduced to the peace conference it has been a bone of contention and a diplomatic mystery. It was casually brought into notice at Versailles by President Wilson, who suggested that the United States would like to have Yap for a cable station, and asked that a special conference be called later to arrange for its disposition.

It was the only bit of territory that the United States had wanted, and certainly nobody, outside of the State department, perhaps, had any idea that a small little thing like a 70-mile island would be disputed in view of what other countries were taking in. Word spread abroad that the island of Yap was the one thing we were to get out of the war, and Yap became a familiar allusion in American conversation. Everybody knew it was an island, and some people could even locate it—at least to the extent of being sure that it was in the ocean, probably in the Pacific.

Meanwhile, the United States has been about claiming the treaty, the cable conference was not called, and it became known that, a long time before, Japan and England had become interested in the welfare of Yap and had made a secret treaty to provide for its future. The treaty arranged for the German-owned islands in the Pacific to be divided into two lots—those above the equator for Japan, and those below for Great Britain. With this agreement in mind, Japan had already run up the Japanese flag in Yap, which is one of the Caroline Island group, east of the Philippines.

At the same time Japan sealed all the cable ends at Yap. This meant that communication in the Pacific was crippled, for Yap is an important cable center, with lines running to Shanghai, Guam, and Manila, so that these points are connected with the United States at San Francisco. Guam, not far from Yap, is also a cable base, but the Pacific needs two, in case of war, or in case of a strike of the cable lines. Our commercial communication with the east has for some time been hampered as a result of the Japanese seizure of the cable base at Yap.

Japan is on the ground, but the peace convention presumably agreed to Mr. Wilson's conference suggestion, and it would seem, gave him to understand that the cable rights of Yap, if not the island itself, were to be ours. This is the highly strategic Yap situation.

As a piece of land Yap would be worth any nation wanting language over. As a cable landing it is a prize which is not to be carelessly abandoned. Yap as a tropical island, is far more interesting than Yap as a cable base. It is a seldom visited island, but it has had one enthusiastic biographer in William H. Furness, who has given us a fascinating account of the life and ways of the Yappers.

In Yap, Mr. Furness found a communistic scheme of life operating on a really practical basis. The Yapper literally picks his clothes off the bushes. Long grasses and leaves make up the skirt which is all the woman wears, except a few flowers. She plait and weaves her long skirt together with a very little labor, and it lasts about a month. The man wears still less in quantity—a loin cloth, a small grass girdle, and the inevitable string of beads. If he is a free man, he also displays a comb in his hair.

The native children and all live on coconuts, fish, yams, and other easily-found foods. Their houses are built of beams with low thatched roofs. Everything is at hand, and their wants are few. The Yappers have no ambitions, no worries, and few jealousies. There is no trouble about getting food because there is so little to do. The backlogs of a tribe build and live in what corresponds to a fraternity house. When one marries, he builds a hut for sleeping housekeeping, and returns to his home mainly for pow-wows and other ceremonies to which women are not invited. The children of Yap roam about and pick up food anywhere, and sleep as often in one house as in another.

Life is reduced to its lowest terms without sacrificing comfort. Yet the people of this island do not go to the limits of communism. They believe strongly in personal property, and they have a rigid monetary system. It is extremely rude to enter another's house without invitation. As for the money, it is not in constant circulation. There is not a great deal to buy, but there is a good deal of it in evidence. To purchase some trinket, or fish from the fishermen, shell money is used. But in big transactions, in a real estate deal, or in buying a canoe, stone money must be produced.

This stone money is quarried on an island 400 miles away and shipped to Yap, where it is official currency. Each piece is as round as a coin, and has a hole in the center. Size determines the relative value of the coin. A small coin would be about a foot in diameter, a middle-sized coin would be the size of a cart-wheel, and a big coin might be as much as 12 feet in diameter.

Of course, these biggest pieces of currency cannot be carried about. They cannot even be got inside the native houses. Usually the owner of the fortune has it propped up against the house, or against a tree in the yard, and there it stays. Nobody could steal it without rousing the neighborhood. And there is practically no theft in Yap, anyway.

When small pieces of stone money change hands, the new owner hoists his pay on a pole and stargers home with it. If the payment is too unwieldy for him to roll or drag it home, and he does not wish to call in assistance, it is quite customary to leave the money at the former owner's house and perhaps mark it so that the new owner can claim it.

It is not at all necessary to be able to point out one's treasure to be known as a wealthy citizen in Yap. It is satisfactory to the rightful owner of the money, and to have it so known among one's friends. Thus, one prominent family had a great piece of stone money made and was bringing it home on a raft when the stone flopped overboard and sank. The crew escaped drowning and came on to Yap to tell of the occurrence. It was not accounted a financial disaster, for the money existed. There were a number of reliable witnesses who had seen it, and could show the place where it disappeared.

These natives cannot read or write, even their own language, so they may not know that the United States is engaging in an after-the-war conflict over their little island. All the Yappers want is peace and quiet.

JUST FOLKS
By EDGAR A. GUEST
SELF-RESPECT.
Don't be a beggar from life. Stand up and earn your right to its silver cup. Get out in the battle and take the blows. And come home dead to a night's repose. Be the burden and brave the care. Travel the highway but pay your fare; Then you may say if you've stood alone That you've a right to the things you own.

Don't look to others to smooth your way. Pay as another is asked to pay; Don't sit at the table and eat your fill, Hoping your brother will pay the bill. For if you would walk with your head erect And go through this life with your self-respect.

In all that is offered of joy and care As the days go by, you must do your share. You must earn the things that you wish to own, You must win your goal by your strength alone.

Don't ask for favors and cringe and whine, But live your life to your own design. Meet your dangers as best you can, Others will help you if you're a man, But don't be one who sits down and begs So long as you've strength in your arms and legs.

Be it little or much that you win on earth, Let it leave the stamp of your own good worth; Be able to say of each treasure fine, I have worked for this and the thing is mine.

Be willing to toil and be willing to give And honor shall follow you while you live, For there's none so mean on this globe as he Who looks to another to pay his fee. (Copyright, 1920, by Edgar A. Guest.)

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT
By ROY K. HOUGHTON
G. K.
Chesterton's 'ere.
A ponderous podger.
Mr. Chesterton said that he was a bit of a podger.

The hirsutous podger.
With 'is little round at
But 'is big round at
And enough 'air to stuff
A fair-sized double bed.

'E's as round as an 'og's head
And 'is big round at
And 'is little round at
A new moon 'in the dark.

And 'e says, no 'e does,
Prohibition's a shame.
The dry law we passed
Was a beggarly crime.

And 'e laughed when 'e thought
Ow we'd lost all our rum,
And 'e laughed till 'e giggled
Is tummy-tum-tum.

But, 'is welcome, old podger,
And so 'elp us, Mike,
You can stay just as long
As you jolly well like.

Mr. Chesterton says prohibition is a step in the direction of barbarism. Judging by his name, G. K. knows more about barbarism than barbarism.

Who's Who Today
LORD DECIES.
The first candidate publicly to offer himself for election to the southern Irish parliament is Lord Decies.

Expressing the belief that the best of the government will be made still better, Lord Decies has announced his purpose of asking some southern Irish constituency to elect him a member of the southern parliament.

Although he may be refused he has said that he will feel that he has attempted something practical and done more for Ireland than those who, however sincere their purpose, continue to quarrel indefinitely with an accomplished fact.

He has admitted that the home rule act is far from perfect, but believes it is a step in the direction of self-government which may be had for the asking. The action of Lord Decies is supposed to be part of the plan of the government to encourage willingness to work for the new act, and it is expected more candidates will be announced.

Lord Decies is known in this country because of his alliance with the Gould family. He married Vivian Gould, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, in 1911. He is now 54 years old. He was educated at Eton and entered the army in 1887. He was with the Seventh Hussars from 1887 to 1910 and was lieutenant colonel commanding the South Irish Horse in 1912. He saw service in South Africa and served under Colonel Plumer in the operations against Matabele. He is also a holder of the military Order of Spain.

Lord Decies is a representative peer of Ireland and sits in the house of lords. Rumors heard early last fall were to the effect that he might become lord lieutenant of Ireland.

LOOKING BACKWARD
FORTY YEARS AGO
Jan. 17, 1881.—There has been considerable cold weather lately, the thermometer going far below zero every night. Last night it went to 12 below at 1 o'clock and at 7 this morning was two degrees colder.—The Janesville Gazette has decided to have their annual masquerade on February 25.

THIRTY-ONE YEARS AGO
Jan. 17, 1890.—The Wisconsin State Grange chamber at Madison this week, ending Tuesday. Some important bills were passed among them the school mill tax.—A small number of people attended the concert of the Bower City band at the armory last night.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Jan. 17, 1901.—The county board convened this morning and selected a site for the proposed soldiers' monument. It will be erected in the center of Court House park, on a line with Bluff street. Work will be started on it in the spring. A sum of $10,000 was appropriated by the board for the monument.

TEN YEARS AGO
Jan. 17, 1911.—The annual poultry show opened today at the rink, larger than ever before. There were over 1,000 entries. The lion harvest started above the 100 mark today, with a force of 125 men working. Mr. Tall expects to hire more later. He states that he hopes to store 15,000 tons before warm weather.

Personal Health Service
By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
ALL KINDS OF GALL

Recently I described here a case of so called "neurasthenia" in which I conducted the Last Exploration and found that the poor fellow had really been suffering with a large gallstone and diseased gall bladder. With him I buried my belief in neurasthenia as a disease entity. It troubles the poor fellow as much as I recall how I ascribed that man's complaints to his "nerves."

General impairment of health in persons in the neighborhood of 40 years of age, particularly women who are a trifle too stout and who are guilty of various degrees of dyspepsia or indigestion or gas-bloating together with a feeling of nervousness or reports or unsatisfactory guesses by the physicians or near-physicians consulted from time to time, warrants at least a painstaking review of the patient's right upper quadrant, as the glib surgeon calls it. The right upper quadrant is that field of the abdomen wherein the gallbladder is situated, just under the ribs and three inches west of the tip of the wishbone. If every doctor had my courage (I have it only because I no longer desire general practice), no doctor could mislead or mislead a patient. He would tell you that "Gallstones I have overlooked." But let us not be too severe with the doctors; they are human, and who does not make mistakes? Let us be fair to the doctors, at least venture an opinion, even though it may not prove correct; whereas, your new-fangled short-cut master of plausibility ventures nothing except the use of the cone-on literature he uses to draw trade.

There are no characteristic symptoms by which even the most skilled of physicians can tell positively that a patient has gallstones. Even a series of X-ray pictures (mere fluoroscopic examination of having a look-in with the X-ray is practically useless) will not show up gallstones, only a small share of cases in which they are present. Only when the stones happen to contain considerable calcium do they throw a shadow on the X-ray picture. Pictures of many gallstones contain no calcium and give no shadows at all. So our friend, the quack who "sees your innards" with his "wonderful X-ray light" is merely a shrewd venture preying on the easiest marks in the

Q. What state has the longest coast line? F. L. C.
A. Florida has the greatest length of coast, its extent being about 1,300 miles. California is second with a seacoast of approximately 700 miles.

Q. How long has it been since priests of the Roman Catholic church were permitted to marry? C. E. S.
A. Pope Sixtus of the Roman church passed an edict in 1555 which not only enjoined strict celibacy on bishops, priests and deacons but included in the separation of church and state the separation of priests from married or their expulsion from the church.

Q. How can a hair brush and comb be cleaned? B. M. K.
A. A simple method is to place the comb in a bowl of cool water to which a small quantity of ammonia has been added. In 10 or 15 minutes dip the brush in, taking care to wet the back as well as possible. Use the comb to clean the comb. Give the brush a few final dips and place to dry resting on bristles.

Q. What is meant by the "Ancient of Days?" D. P. E.
A. This is a designation of God, found in the Book of Daniel. It represents him as "the aged," "the advanced in days," possibly as a contrast to the new divinities Antichrist.

Q. What is a trench-gun or mortar? J. M. E.
A. This is a small portable cannon, or mortar, used at short range, for dropping bombs or similar projectiles into an enemy's trenches.

Q. It is suggested that we use a Ford car going to and coming from work. Can I deduct upkeep expenses of car from my income tax return? W. E.
A. The bureau of internal revenue informs us that it is unlawful for you to deduct the upkeep expenses of your own car when filing income tax returns.

Q. How is Amelita Galli-Curci's surname pronounced? Q. R. T.
A. This name is pronounced as follows: gal' le koor' che.

Q. Who were the Octobrists? F. A. M.
A. This name was applied to members of a moderately liberal political party in Russia, originally supporting principles of constitutional government, which were expressed, and measures of reform which were advocated, in an imperial manifesto of October, 1905.

Q. What is a snow banner? B. C. C.
A. This is a banner-like stream of snow blown into the air from a mountain peak, often having a pinkish color, and extending horizontally for several miles across the sky.

The School Child's Health
This is one of the most vital questions that the mother faces in all the care of her child. If her child is not healthy it cannot succeed in its pursuit of an education. It cannot grow into normal maturity.
Our Washington Information Bureau, realizing this, asked the American Red Cross to make a study of the distribution of a bulletin that would show the mother the best possible advice about keeping her child physically fit.
The book is now ready. It is unusually short and practical. It is ready made of the subject. IT IS FREE.

CROWDS VISIT LOCAL DRUG STORE AT KOZAK OPENING
All day Saturday a continuous stream of men and women visited the noted Kozak Health Expert at the People's Drug Store, Main and Milwaukee streets, to see and learn more about Kozak, the "10,000 Formula," which is creating so much favorable comment in other cities. Many of the cures had heard of the remarkable powers of this "Master Medicine" in overcoming stomach, kidney and catarrhal ills and building up weak, nervous run-down folks, when all else had failed, through friends and relatives in other sections where it had been introduced. In commenting upon the enormous demand for Kozak, the expert, who meets the public daily and evenings, said:
"It is just as we expected. Kozak's merits have been heralded everywhere and we are not surprised that local people in such great numbers have been waiting for its introduction here. Kozak is a scientific combination of herbs, barks and berries, carefully compounded in one of America's largest laboratories at Dayton, O., by skilled chemists."

Where Standard Oil Efficiency Is Needed Most
IN the ten Middle Western States served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) there is one automobile for each 9 persons. It is estimated that 65% of these vehicles are owned by farmers. That is the utmost of efficiency in refining, manufacturing, and distributing gasoline and other petroleum products is needed most in this great territory.
To indicate the tremendous increase in the number of cars and trucks, the following statement of 1919 and 1920 registrations by states is given:

STATES	1919	1920
So. Dakota	104,625	122,040
Iowa	363,000	442,200
Minnesota	259,743	323,572
Missouri	229,577	295,817
Kansas	228,601	265,385
No. Dakota	82,885	90,840
Michigan	296,378	412,275
Wisconsin	236,974	303,246
Indiana	277,255	332,207
Illinois	478,438	569,127
	2,557,476	3,156,709

To enable these machines to operate in all weather, under all conditions, and wherever they may be located, an adequate supply of gasoline is needed. To supply this need is the constant endeavor of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). The refineries operated by this Company are working night and day to increase the yield of gasoline taken from crude oil, without in any way sacrificing the quality of the gasoline.
The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) operates a distribution system maintained at as near to 100% efficiency as is humanly possible. To do this calls for a minute and unwearied study of local conditions, and for constant anticipation of future needs.
All activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are co-ordinated to the highest degree of efficiency to insure maximum economy.
Thus in the Middle West, where efficiency is needed most, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is performing this essential economic service to the benefit of all the people.
